A Christmas Poem

I was walking round our property just the other day
When all at once I thought I heard some children hard at play
Then I got a closer look and boy, was I surprised it was several little elves all wearing a disguise

I knew at once they meant no harm they're here to check us out They're making sure it will be safe for Santa on his route
It's important for the reindeer to have a place to land
Since we live in a condominium, they have to have a plan

The kids are so excited there is laughter everywhere with shopping and the parties; fun is in the air
The mistletoe is hung up high with friends and family close It's time to laugh and celebrate with those we love the most

Our homes are decorated with silver, red and green Children helping Mama, a sight that's seldom seen
It's time to bake some cookies, some pies and even cakes
We'll put some milk and cookies out for Santa to partake

So while we're waiting patiently for Santa Claus to come Let's listen for the drummer boy playing rum pa pum pum pum Cause Christmas is much more than dolls, it's more than toys or ties it has a deeper meaning than just what money buys

I think it's kind of neat, you know, how Santa really works
He makes it fun for all of us, even grown-ups get some perks Santa's wish for everyone as Christmas Eve draws near
Is to have a Merry Christmas and A Happy Safe New Year
